The secret of our success?

We know our customers' needs and wishes. Freshness, high-quality raw materials, careful processing, the development of new & innovative products and excellent service. As simple as that! Today Sonnentor is one of the leading brands in the organic market in Europe and well known throughout the Austral-Asian markets in both the retail trade and hospitality sector.

Tradition & Contemporary

In the historic precinct

A close-up photograph of a person's hands, wearing a white long-sleeved shirt, holding a small amount of dried herbs and flowers. The herbs are a mix of green leaves and yellow and purple flower petals. Below the hands is a white bowl filled with a larger quantity of the same dried herb mixture. The background is a wooden surface.
